

This electric light report on the Quad 4s Aquitania was held over when the vessel left for Liverpool, until the installation was completed: viz Diesel engine for emergency electric light set connected up and tested. This had not been done when the vessel was taken by the Admiralty as an armed cruiser and a quantity of the wiring etc removed.

Since learning that Messrs W C Martin & Co, the electricians who originally fitted out the vessel were not to replace the wiring removed, they have been pressed to supply the report but have only just done so.

Harry Clarke.
