Sir,

In reply to your letter of the 21st inst.
regarding the S.S. "Carennero" having made enquiry at the builders, I beg to forward the following particulars of the Steel used in her construction:—

The Steel Angles were supplied by The Steel Company of Scotland.

The Steel Plates were supplied by The West Cumberland Iron & Steel Co. Workington.

The Materials was specified to stand Admiralty tests and were privately tested by the makers, who forwarded the results to the Builders, who again handed these to Mr E. J. Reed, London without retaining Copies of same.

The above are all the particulars I have been able to obtain. I am,

Yours faithfully,
John G. Mitchell
